More Than Just Small Adults: Pediatric Pharmacy
Pearls for the Emergency Department

Matthew Naden is a graduate of Grand Valley State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Allied Health Sciences and a 2020 graduate of Ferris State University College of Pharmacy. Currently, Matthew is a clinical pharmacist who primarily practices within the pediatric intensive care and cardiac intensive care units (PICU/PCICU), and the emergency department at Helen DeVos Children's Hospital in Grand Rapids. His interests include critical care, emergency medicine, student and resident preceptorship, and process improvement.

Objectives:

- Identify unique characteristics in pediatric patients that may affect drug dosing and/or administration
- Given a clinical scenario, provide a treatment recommendation for a pediatric patient in the emergency department
